

ABSTRACT

System for displaying menus are provided. A representative system displays a menu in relation to an open document based upon menu items specified by a main menu module and menu items specified by behaviors associated with the document. Menu

5 items specified by the behaviors associated with the document are merged with the menu items specified by the main menu module. Methods and other systems are also provided.